THE DONKEY

Once upon a time there was a King who wanted to go fishing.

He called the royal weather forecaster and inquired as to the weather forecast for the next few hours. The weatherman assured him that there was no chance of rain in the coming days.

So the King went fishing with his wife, the Queen. On the way he met a farmer on his donkey. Upon seeing the King the farmer said, "Your Majesty, you should return to the palace at once because in just a short time I expect a huge amount of rain to fall in this area".

The King was polite and considerate, he replied: "I hold the palace meteorologist in high regard. He is an extensively educated and experienced professional. And besides, I pay him very high wages. He gave me a very different forecast. I trust him and I will continue on my way." So he continued on his way.

However, a short time later a torrential rain fell from the sky. The King and Queen were totally soaked and their entourage chuckled upon seeing them in such a shameful condition.

Furious, the King returned to the palace and gave the order to fire the professional. Then he summoned the farmer and offered him the prestigious and high paying role of Royal Forecaster.

The farmer said, "Your Majesty, I do not know anything about forecasting. I obtain my information from my donkey. If I see my donkey's ears drooping, it means with certainty that it will rain."

So the King hired the donkey.

Scientists now believe; Aliens created our species and manipulated our DNA

Researchers who worked for 13 years in the Human Genome Project indicate that they came across an amazing scientific discovery: They believe that the so-called 97% of non-coding sequences in the human DNA is nothing less than the genetic code of extraterrestrial life forms. Originally referred to as “Junk DNA” its functioned remained a mystery for researchers. Now researchers believe that our DNA is extraterrestrial in origin.

Paul Krugman: Like millions of people, I've been obsessively following the news from Paris, putting aside other things to focus on the horror. It's the natural human reaction.

But let's be clear: it's also the reaction the terrorists want. And that's something not everyone seems to understand. Take, for example, Jeb Bush's declaration that “this is an organized attempt to destroy Western civilization.” No, it isn't. It's an organized attempt to sow panic, which isn't at all the same thing.

And remarks like that, which blur that distinction and make terrorists seem more powerful than they are, just help the jihadists' cause. Think, for a moment, about what France is and what it represents. It has its problems — what nation doesn't? — but it's a robust democracy with a deep well of popular legitimacy. Its defense budget is small compared with ours, but it nonetheless retains a powerful military, and has the resources to make that military much stronger if it chooses. (France's economy is around 20 times the size of Syria's.) France is not going to be conquered by ISIS, now or ever. Destroy Western civilization? Not a chance. (your comments?)

GREENHOUSE GASES TOP 400PPM THRESHOLD:

Greenhouse gases in Earth’s atmosphere have surpassed 400 parts per million around much of the planet—crossing a symbolic threshold that scientists say will have ominous implications for climate change. According to a World Meteorological Organization report Monday, the concentrations of all of three closely watched heat-trapping gasses—carbon dioxide, methane, and nitrous oxide—showed strong growth this year, and are up 36 percent since 1990.

“We are moving into uncharted territory at a frightening speed,” said WMO Secretary General Michel Jarraud of the findings. Separately, a World Bank report released Sunday warned that if countries fail to sustain policies to reduce the rise of global warming, an additional 100 million people could be driven into poverty by 2030.
